

About Us

This dynamic mother-daughter duo have a combined 45+ years in education, management, child care, human resources, and professional development. Raising Munchkin, LLC is the result of years of developing and presenting workshops which engage and inspire. Combining their knowledge and experiences, Bunny and Lacey provide workshops on management skills, team building, conflict resolution, child care program management, and parenting support. They approach professional development with humor and insight and view it as an opportunity to explore new research and information, examine innovative strategies for complex challenges, and practical solutions to ensure agencies “work smarter, not harder.”

Bunny Egerton

From national sales manager to high school principal to multi-site child care management, Bunny’s career embraces a wide range of experiences and expertise. She currently manages 20 before and after school child care centers, employing 100 providers and serving 1,800 children daily. Additionally, she is an adjunct instructor at Howard Community College and approved by the Maryland State Department of Education as a child care trainer. When she is not working, Bunny plays softball, attends theater, and travels. On a recent trip, she went to Japan where she climbed Mount Fuji with her son.

Lacey Tsonis

Starting as a camp counselor as a teenager, Lacey continued to work with children of all ages in a variety of setting. She has worked in human resources for a large non-profit and as the professional development coordinator for a child care resource center. She currently oversees the Maryland Child Care Resource Network, a statewide network of 12 child care resource and referral centers. Additionally, she is an adjunct instructor at Howard Community College and approved by the Maryland State Department of Education as a child care trainer. She resides in Maryland with her husband, 2 young children, 2 cats, dog, and occasionally a fish. In her free time, she enjoys reading and taking her kids on adventures.
