

1101 St. Paul St. #603
Baltimore, MD 21202
www.amazingnonprofits.com

Providing consulting services to amazing nonprofits

Deb Jung is a long-time resident of Howard County who is actively involved in a variety of civic activities in the County, from her present service on the Howard County School Health Council to past membership on the Human Rights Commission and the Martin Luther King Celebration Commission. She also served as Co-Chair of the Howard County Sesquicentennial and was a founder and President of the Executive's Charity, an organization started by the County Executive to raise money for the arts in Howard County. Deb is intimately familiar with nonprofits and government institutions in Howard County having been a part of them over the years. Deb began her legal career at Whiteford Taylor, a Baltimore law firm, then moved to the Close-up Foundation, a DC based nonprofit, where she served as general counsel. In the late 1990's she joined the Maryland Association of Nonprofit Organizations where she provided technical assistance to the membership, served as corporate counsel to the organization, authored much of the Standards for Excellence materials, and was a frequent trainer. Since leaving the Association in 2010, she established a private law practice specializing in personnel law and nonprofit corporate matters; today, most of her clients are nonprofit organizations.